Befriended Runaway Youth Admits Killing 5 in Family

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Thomas Pendergast stared at the lanky, pimply-faced youth who had just confessed slaying Pendergast's wife and four children. "Why did you do it?" he screamed. "They were all I had in the world."

Young Carl Eder slumped in his chair at the police station. His mouth opened and shut several times but no sound came out. Finally he blurted: "I ... I didn't want to hurt."

The meeting between Pendergast and the 16-year-old runaway since Friday when the bodies of Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her four children were found in their home. The mother had been shot, the children slashed and stabbed with a knife.

The 6-foot-3 teen-ager, whose description had been widely broadcast, was recognized by a resident of Mission Beach and arrested by an off-duty policeman and a lifeguard. After a brief show of defiance the boy started crying and admitted he was Eder and that he had killed Mrs. Pendergast and the children.

"I just slipped," his captors quoted him as saying. At the San Diego police station, officers said they got a detailed confession from the youth Pendergast picked up as a hitchhiker six weeks ago and took into his home because he felt sorry for him.

They said Eder told them he became angry because one of the children, Diane, 4, was making a lot of noise. He stormed into the bedroom and threw the girl on the floor, cutting her head.

Mrs. Pendergast rushed up, took the child into the bathroom to bandage her and told Eder to call a doctor. Instead, the youth got a pistol from the garage and came back and shot the mother.

He killed Diane and her brother Allen, 2, by cutting their throats with a hunting knife. And when David, 9, and Tom, 6, came home from school he killed them the same way.

He was waiting outside when Pendergast came home from his job as an aircraft worker and forced him to drive him toward San Diego before the father had a chance to enter the house and find out what had happened.

He left Pendergast at a service station in San Diego. About the man who had befriended him, he said: "I didn't want to kill him. He's been real good to me."

Eder said he had been sleeping in a ballroom closed for the winter since Friday. He was spotted while walking on the boardwalk near the ballroom.

Young Eder showed little emotion until he was confronted by Pendergast at the police station. Then the grief-stricken father screamed at him: "Why, oh, why? Eder flushed, his jaw dropped and tears streamed from his eyes.

NATO Envoys Hold Hope for East-West Talk

PARIS (AP) — The foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact countries today flatly rejected Russian pressure on Berlin but held out the possibility of high-level talks with the Soviet Union on East-West problems.

The Western leaders agreed, however, that such talks could not be successful under the threats of any Soviet ultimatum on West Berlin.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told his colleagues in the North Atlantic Council that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will not risk war over Berlin.

"Therefore we can proceed with confidence," Dulles asserted. He added: "We must not give an appearance of success to a bold and reckless move. In this respect he (Khrushchev) is like Hitler — if we give him an inch, he will take a mile."

The ministers also agreed to advise the Russians that the big Western Powers are ready to negotiate at a high level for a general settlement of the problems of Europe.

These would include reunification of Germany with Berlin as its capital, European security measures and disarmament questions, a Norwegian diplomat reported.

A NATO spokesman said the majority of the 15 foreign ministers agreed with Dulles' position. He described the broad lines in this way:

"Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposals are unacceptable. The West must stand firm and cannot tolerate the unilateral violation of international agreements. The West is agreed that it is always ready for discussions on the reunification of Germany."

The ministers decided there would be further consultation by the Big Three after the NATO sessions to determine how to frame replies to the Berlin notes from Khrushchev. Preliminary consultations have already begun.

The keynote of the morning session, the NATO spokesman said, was "the complete and unequal" (Continued on Page Two)

Editor's Note: The "Three Kings of the Orient" were in fact kings only of knowledge — professional scholars more advanced than any others in their age. But their decision to search for a Divine King was not welcomed by all their learned colleagues. Here's a description of their odyssey, second of five articles on the Magi's Journey to Jesus.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The caravan stood in readiness. It had taken nearly three months to prepare for the 1,200-mile journey. Shouts of leather-shirted cavalry officers mingled with the bawl of animals as supplies were loaded.

Somewhere ... somewhere in Judea ... was the destination. The chief camoleer rushed about, yelling instructions and gesturing violently, as sweating slaves hoisted rope crates and grain bags to the backs of kneeling freight beasts. Dust swirled in the bright Persian sunlight.

Blankets, tents, foodstuffs, water casks and other necessities, along with chests of rare treasures, were stowed on the wooden pack saddles, divided equally by weight on either side, and bound to the uprights.

Since it would be a rigorous trip, only about 400 pounds of cargo, two-thirds the usual maximum, was placed on each camel. A crowd of jostling townspeople looked on, women veiled in their chadors; a circle of white-gowned men sat around a fire, staring silently into its leaping flames.

Among them were the three (the number and their identifications are matters of divergent ancient accounts, but the most common listing is used here) who had determined to track the genesis of a star.

They were Melchior, pale, old, white-bearded; Gaspar, a tall, ruddy young priest, and black-skinned Balthasar, of medium age and stature, whose ancestors may have come to Persia in the days of chadors; dark, hirsute men with laughing eyes.

"A fool's expedition! Those greybeards chase the wind," when its empire stretched to Ethiopia.

Not all their fellow Magi condoned this quest to honor a hypothetical "Blessed One" of alien birth. Nor would they, as the ensuing years proved, accept its validity. It smacked of national disloyalty.

But the tenacity of High Magus Melchior and his supporters had overcome this narrow view. The strange mission was decreed.

Seeking Divine guidance, the counsellors sat now to "contemplate the beams of the fire with a most pious mind." So their prophet, Zarathustra, had taught. So Moses heard God on fiery Sinai and in a burning bush.

Finally, the group rose and filed out of the altar room. After farewell embraces, the three travelers donned their turbans and fur-trimmed cloaks, strode out to the waiting train and mounted their dromedaries.

"Khikh!" The guttural command burst from the camoleers. They jerked at the halters, and the beasts arose, growling, to their feet. The troop of mounted bowmen moved forward, the golden eagle of Persia fluttering on their banners.

The long trek was on. In what city the march began is uncertain, but since the Magian priesthood served as one of the two councils to the king, it may have been at Hecatompylos, the northern capital of a hundred gates.

Or, they may have left from the winter castle in Ctesiphon, with its stately domes and arcades, or from the former hundred-columned capitol at Persepolis, or the once-sovereign western city, Susa.

At any rate, despite some traditions saying each of them came from different places such as Media, India, Tharsis, Arabia, Nubia and Ethiopia, this is flatly refuted by the Apostle Matthew who cites a single homeland — "their own country."

The overriding evidence is that this was Persia. In the original Greek, Matthew's gospel specifies (Continued on Page Five)

Mom-in-Law Accused in 'Annulment'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Authorities in two counties are hunting a pretty nurse they say disappeared after her mother-in-law impersonated her and had her marriage annulled.

The mother-in-law Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, was arraigned Monday on four felony counts involving the staged annulment.

Two men have been jailed here in connection with the strange case—one on suspicion of kidnapping—but police won't say why.

Authorities in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties pieced together this chronology:

On June 24—over the mother's objections—Olga Kupczyk, 30, who came here a year ago from Vancouver, B.C., and Frank Duncan, 29, a prominent Santa Barbara attorney, were married.

On Aug. 7 Ventura Superior Court granted an annulment of the marriage to a couple who said they were Olga and Frank and testified that the marriage had never been consummated. Police say the couple, in reality, were Elizabeth Duncan and an unidentified man.

On Nov. 17 Olga was reported missing. She had separated from Duncan and was living in an apartment. Neighbors found the apartment door wide open, all lights on and all her clothing and luggage still there.

Saturday authorities arrested Mrs. Duncan. She next acquired a toy radio (space model), a windup toy racer, a sports car instrument panel, a space helmet and some model plane and car kits.

"You've spent only a hundred dollars, Phil," warned a company representative. "You have to go faster than this."

He did. He asked to be driven to his church, where he gave the pastor $50. "For the poor children," he said.

At a department store he bought two television sets, one for his parents and another for his grandmother, who had encouraged him to enter the contest in the first place three months back.

He still had $265 left. In a bicycle shop he bought a shining new bike when his mother pointed out his old bike was getting too small.

Next he bought a big doll. "What's that for," he was asked. "A little girl in the hospital," Phil replied.

He bought some more model airplane kits, a record player and a toy cannon.

At home he wrote out two more checks. One to big sister Gail, 13, for $25, and one for brother Jerry, 7, for $20.

"I'm giving you my old train," he told Jerry, "and that ought to be worth $5, so I'm just giving you $20 in money."

Ohio Mercury Struggles to Higher Reading

No Sub-Zero Reports Heard, but No Real Warm Weather Ahead

Temperatures across Ohio moderated generally about 15 degrees in the last 24 hours, the Weather Bureau reported today.

It had only one report of the mercury flirting with the zero mark. That was at Marion, which had a 2 above reading.

Dayton had 7, Findlay 8, Cleveland, Akron and Toledo 10, Columbus 12, Cincinnati 13 and Marietta 14 this morning.

The weekend's sub-zero wave claimed one elderly man's life and placed the life of another in peril. In New Bloomington near Marion, 71-year-old Clarence V. Young collapsed from a stroke on the front porch of his home Sunday and froze to death. And in Columbus, doctors at University Hospital are battling to save the life of Charles E. Drossel, 71, found semi-conscious at 5:15 a.m. Monday on a city sidewalk.

The elderly man had been staying with relatives in Columbus and apparently had been outside since leaving a lodge meeting. His body temperature when he was found was 80 degrees, 18.6 below normal. He is in critical condition.

Family of Nine Sees Home Heavily Damaged by Fire

A blaze, apparently due to a faulty electrical outlet, caused heavy damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Garrett and their seven children, of near Whisler, yesterday evening.

Nelson Jones, Tarlton Fire Chief, said flames caused extensive damage to the kitchen, living room and an upstairs bedroom of the frame house. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

Mrs. Garrett and the children were at home when the blaze was discovered at about 5:30 p.m. Mr. Garrett was at work.

According to relatives, most of the family's clothing was destroyed. The blaze also destroyed much of the Christmas presents which had been purchased for the children.

The Journey to Jesus --

Well Gives Out; County Home Faced with Water Shortage

The Pickaway County Children's Home, Route 22 east of here, is faced with a water shortage.

According to Winfield Koch, supervisor, the home's well suddenly gave out. He said "it appears that the bottom fell out of the spring which feeds the well."

Koch said the problem at present does not appear to be severe in that water is being hauled to the home from Circleville.

He said a tanker-truck owned by the local C. F. Replogle Co. is hauling water from the fire station hydrant on E. Franklin St. The 4,000-gallon tanker has made several trips, keeping the home's cisterns at a high level.

DUE TO this service, no emergency measures concerning the use of water have been required, Koch pointed out.

Koch said drilling operations to find a new source of water already have been started. Initial drilling, handicapped by cold weather, produced only unusable sulphur water. Drilling is slated to continue.

U.S. Envoy To Iraq Gets Poor Welcome

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — William M. Rountree, U.S. assistant secretary of state, is to hold talks today with Iraqi officials despite a violent reception from street mobs who threw mudballs, eggs and a rock at him.

Rountree was greeted Monday by "go home" howls from thousands. The limousine he was riding in was splattered with mud and a window cracked by the rock. He was unarmed.

Many of the youths in the mobs apparently had been led to believe that Rountree came to try to resurrect the pro-Western royal government which was overthrown July 14 by a military coup.

Rountree's schedule includes a talk with the leader of the coup, Premier Abdel Karim Kassem. He is scheduled to leave Thursday, after staying longer than originally planned. He has toured Middle Eastern nations for the past week.

A violent anti-American campaign, partly fomented by the powerful Iraqi Communist party, has been under way in Iraq for weeks.

When Rountree flew in from Cairo after talking with President Nasser, troops whisked him off the airfield by a rear gate to avoid several thousand persons massed at the main entrance.

The diplomat got to the Sovereignty Council to sign the visitors' book before the mob caught up.

'Bad News' Seen In Bible Too

NEW YORK (AP)—If stories of crime and violence are good enough for the Bible, they're good enough for daily newspapers, says Rabbi Joseph H. Lookstein.

Rabbi Lookstein, speaking at a city conference of newspapermen and clergymen, cited biblical stories dealing with violence and insisted that modern newspapers must report the news, both bad and good.

His comments were made after several clergymen complained about the prominence given by newspapers to crime stories.

Foreign Envoys In Peiping Told Of 'Retirement'

Communist Chairman's Move Claimed To Be 'Entirely Voluntary'

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Red China's government notified foreign diplomats in Peiping today that Mao Tze-tung will step down next month as the government chairman, diplomatic sources said.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi was reported to have announced Mao's coming retirement from the chairmanship, equivalent to the presidency, at an informal briefing of ambassadors, ministers, and charge d'affaires credited to Peiping.

He told them, however, that Mao would remain as chief of the Communist party.

Telegrams reaching Warsaw said Chen had told the envoys that Mao had decided not to present himself for re-election when his current term as chairman of the government expires in January.

The decision was presented as entirely voluntary and not as being forced on Mao by a hostile meeting of the Communist party Central Committee, as reported at the week end by Chinese Nationalist sources from Formosa.

The attitude in Taipei, Formosa, was different from that in Peiping. The Nationalists' step their sources report Mao is stepping aside under fire.

Nationalists leaders today were reported in conference with Gen. Chiang Kai-shek studying the move reported from Peiping.

There was no particular surprise caused by the fact that the reported decision was not publicly announced at the close Monday of the party Central Committee conference in Hanhow.

This is taken here to indicate that the party has still to decide how to break the news so that it will not appear that Mao, who will retain his post as party leader, is being downgraded.

Also, the party wants to educate special groups to the idea of Mao stepping out before springing the news on the people.

The general belief among Nationalists is that the 65-year-old Mao, founder of the Chinese Communist revolution, is on the way out to retirement.

There is speculation that Marshal Chu Teh, 72-year-old soldier turned politician, would succeed Mao.

Growing opposition to Mao's program is regarded as a main factor in the predicted replacement.

Communist press reports admit opposition to the program, that has uprooted the traditional pattern of Chinese family life.

Under this program, the people are herded into working communes where they live in dormitories. Children are raised by the state.

The official Nationalist Central Daily News said it was obvious that Moscow must have applied pressure for a change of government leadership at Peiping.

Soviet Pilot Finds Belgian Explorers

BRUSSELS (AP)—A Soviet pilot found four Belgian explorers who crashed in the antarctic and flew them back to their home base today.

Moscow radio said, "All four are well."

The four are members of the Belgian expedition taking part in the International Geophysical Year. They took off Dec. 6 to establish a scientific station. They crashed-landed their small plane in the Crystal Mountains.

The nearest large expedition was the Soviet one.

He is scheduled to leave Thursday, after staying longer than originally planned. He has toured Middle Eastern nations for the past week.

A violent anti-American campaign, partly fomented by the powerful Iraqi Communist party, has been under way in Iraq for weeks.

Utah Police Pondering Some King-Size Thefts

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — King-sized thefts being investigated by police:

A truck-trailer rig, with a giant construction tractor on the trailer, stolen from a truck terminal parking lot.

A 16-foot house trailer towed away from the Wilmot Mann home.

A 10-foot pine tree, uprooted from F. F. Hintze's lawn and found propped on the front porch of a University of Utah fraternity house.

Foreign Envoys In Peiping Told Of 'Retirement'

Communist Chairman's Move Claimed To Be 'Entirely Voluntary'

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Red China's government notified foreign diplomats in Peiping today that Mao Tse-tung will step down next month as the government chairman, diplomatic sources said.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi was reported to have announced Mao's coming retirement from the chairmanship, equivalent to the presidency, at an informal briefing of ambassadors, ministers, and charge d'affaires credited to Peiping.

He told them, however, that Mao would remain as chief of the Communist party.

Telegrams reaching Warsaw said Chen had told the envoys that Mao had decided not to present himself for re-election when his current term as chairman of the government expires in January.

The decision was presented as entirely voluntary and not as being forced on Mao by a hostile meeting of the Communist party Central Committee, as reported at the week end by Chinese Nationalist sources on Formosa.

The attitude in Taipei, Formosa, was different from that in Peiping. The Nationalists said their sources report Mao is stepping aside under fire.

Nationalist leaders today were reported in conference with Gen. Chiang Kai-shek studying the move reported from Peiping.

There was no particular surprise caused by the fact that the reported decision was not publicly announced at the close Monday of the party Central Committee conference in Hanhow.

This is taken here to indicate that the party has still to decide how to break the news so that it will not appear that Mao, who will retain his post as party leader, is being downgraded.

Also, the party wants to educate special groups to the idea of Mao stepping out before springing the news on the people.

The general belief among Nationalists is that the 65-year-old Mao, founder of the Chinese Communist revolution, is on the way out to retirement.

There is speculation that Marshal Chu Teh, 72-year-old soldier turned politician, would succeed Mao.

Growing opposition to Mao's program is regarded as a main factor in the predicted replacement.

Communist press reports admit opposition to the program, that has uprooted the traditional pattern of Chinese family life.

Under this program, the people are herded into working communes where they live in dormitories. Children are raised by the state.

The official Nationalist Central Daily News said it was obvious that Moscow must have applied pressure for a change of government leadership at Peiping.

Soviet Pilot Finds Belian Explorers

BRUSSELS (AP)—A Soviet pilot found four Belgian explorers who crashed in the antarctic and flew them back to their home base today.

Moscow radio said, "All four are well."

The four are members of the Belgian expedition taking part in the International Geophysical Year. They took off Dec. 6 to establish a scientific station. They crash-landed their small plane in the Crystal Mountains.

The nearest large expedition was the Soviet one.

'Bad News' Seen In Bible Too

NEW YORK (AP)—If stories of crime and violence are good enough for the Bible, they're good enough for daily newspapers, says Rabbi Joseph H. Lookstein.

Rabbi Lookstein, speaking at a city conference of newspapermen and clergymen, cited biblical stories dealing with violence and insisted that modern newspapers must report the news, both bad and good.

His comments were made after several clergymen complained about the prominence given by newspapers to crime stories.

Airman Cited Into Court

Martin E. Dow, 25, an airman at Lockbourne Air Force Base, was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Dow also is accused of taking a car owned by Reuben C. Weber, Ashville, according to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Dow was involved in an accident after taking the car in Ashville at about 4 p. m. yesterday.

Dow was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his drivers license suspended for one year on the intoxicated driving count.

Dow told Hoover that he got into the Weber car by mistake, following a day of drinking at an Ashville bar. His own car was parked nearby. Hoover said Dow smashed the car into a fence on the Lloyd Baum farm near Ashville.

It was Dow's second intoxicated driving conviction since March, 1937.

Friends may call at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home after 2 p. m. Wednesday.

JOHN B. MAY JR.

Mr. John B. May Jr., 75, was found dead Wednesday morning by his sister, Miss Elizabeth May, with whom he lived in Washington D. C.

Mr. May was born in New Holland in March of 1883. He graduated from New Holland High School. He married Grace Withgott who preceded him in death.

Mr. May was confidential clerk in the U. S. Naval Department from 1912 to 1916 when he became personal secretary to the U. S. Secretary of the Navy. He held this position through President Hoover's administration and then became head of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics until his retirement in 1946.

Mr. May is survived by three sons, Robert, Fairfax, Va., John B. III, Washington D. C., and Thomas P., Wilmington, N. C.; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Kline, Fairfield, Conn., and Mrs. Alice Trotter, Washington D. C.; three sisters, Miss Elizabeth May, Washington D. C., Miss Lena May, New Holland, and Mrs. Y. H. Yarbrough, Milledgeville, Ga.; and three brothers, Charles H. May, 225 S. Court St., Percy, New Holland, and James G., Columbus.

Funeral services were held Saturday. He was interred in Washington D. C.

O'Neill Names Pair To State Ag Board

27, Pg 1—O'Neill Names
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today appointed one new member and reappointed a present member of the State Board of Agriculture. Both appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

The new member is Merle Stacy of near Marietta, a brother of Lloyd Stacy of near Lowell who resigned Dec. 1 to become state director of Agriculture. Merle Stacy was appointed to a term ending Sept. 30, 1944. He is a Republican.

The reappointment went to Willard Bitzer, Democrat, of Washington Court House. He originally was appointed to the board in 1952 by former Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

County Democrats File Expenditures

The Pickaway County Democratic Executive Committee filed its statement of receipts and expenditures today with the County Board of Elections.

The Democrats listed receipts of $1,487.74 and expenses of $1,001.98. Their statement, filed by Party Chairman, Robert H. Huffer, said the balance of the funds will be used to keep the Democrats active through meetings, correspondence and general political activity.

but the over-all outlook is for continued below-normal readings, the Weather Bureau said.

The midcontinent got a little relief today from the unseasonably cold and heavy snow. But there wasn't any immediate break in the prewinter cold wave in the East and South.

The warming trend, from the Continental Divide into the Midwest, followed more than a week of zero cold and snow. However, temperatures generally were below seasonal levels in most areas and snow was in prospect in Northern sections.

It was colder in much of the East and South and more snow piled on top of already snow-covered areas. Freezing weather prevailed in the Carolinas and across northern Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. More frosty air nipped northern Florida.

The cold showed little moderation across the Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio Valley, the central Gulf Coast states, and along the Eastern Seaboard. However, a little warmer weather was indicated.

It was freezing at Tallahassee, Fla., early today and near the freezing mark in Cross City, Fla.

The Bureau forecasts temperatures below the seasonal normal over the eastern half of the United States for the next 30 days, except for near normal in the Florida Peninsula.

"Above normal temperatures are expected to prevail west of the Continental Divide. In the intervening area of the Central Plains about normal averages are in prospect but with large variations about the normal.

"Precipitation is expected to equal or exceed normal east of the Appalachians along the Gulf Coast and over the eastern Great Lakes. In Central and Northern portions much of this will be in the form of snow.

"Equal or above normal amounts are also expected over the Pacific Northwest and in the Central and Northern Plains. In the remainder of the country subnormal precipitation is anticipated."

Santa Claus' Matrimonial Aid Revived

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Santa Claus' matrimonial bureau is back in business and the woman who started it all has been invited to place her order again.

Identifying herself only as "the lonely widow," she dropped a letter into the big red mailbox designed for youngsters' letters to Santa last year. In her letter, she asked for a husband for Christmas.

When her plea received wide publicity, about 200 other men and women put in similar requests. The city recreation director, Nick J. Barack, mimeographed a list of their names and addresses and sent a copy to each.

Two marriages resulted, but no further word was received from the original lonely widow. Barack—now jokingly called "St. Nick"—put up a special mailbox Monday, promised to compile another lonely hearts list this year, and urged the lonely widow to give it another try.

Scolded Boy, 6, Dies In Freezing Weather

MERRICK, N.Y. (AP) — The temperature was below freezing when 6-year-old Tommy Donahue ran away from home after a scolding from his father.

A widespread, two-day search for the boy ended Monday. Tommy's body was found along a road embankment. He had died of exposure.

fied solidarity of the alliance in support of the three powers principally responsible for Berlin."

The Western Big Three reportedly were drafting a reply to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 27 note. His note called for an end to the four-power occupation of Berlin, turning West Berlin into a Communist-surrounded, demilitarized free city within six months.

The reply, informants said, would reject the Soviet proposal outright and suggest the time had come for a fresh look at the situation in Germany and central Europe.

Among the key points in the draft was a reminder that Moscow has not responded to the Big Three proposal Sept. 30 to begin work at an expert level on German reunification, with a summit meeting the eventual goal. Moscow repeatedly has refused to discuss reunification, saying the Communist East German regime must arrange this with West Germany. West Germany and the Big Three refuse to deal with the satellite regime and say Germany can be unified only by free elections throughout the divided nation.

Children's Home Treated By Kiwanis

The residents of the Pickaway County Children's Home were last night entertained by the Circleville Kiwanis Club with dinner and gifts presented by Santa Claus.

A total of 31 children were on hand at the Mecca Restaurant. After their meal and singing of Christmas carols, led by Truman Eberly, the group were presented gifts.

Each child received one or more presents and candy was given by individual Kiwanians. Assorted cartoons capped the evening's entertainment.

The high school sextet shared the evening's program, singing four Christmas songs. Members of the group were Marilyn Hartman, Martha Samuel, Diane Johnson, Sheila Bass, Diana Grant and Ellen Neff. Miss Judy Barnhill was their accompanist.

Bill Wirtel, associated with Ralston Purina, was the guest of Dr. Richard Samuel. It was announced that brother Kiwanian, Judge William Ammer, will be installed as 10th Division Lieutenant Governor on January 5.

THE INSTALLATION will be held in the grand ball room of the Neil House, Columbus, at 7 p. m. After the regular meeting, 1938 officers and committee chairmen were briefed on the coming year's objectives of Kiwanis by President Peter J. Meshkoff at his home.

Mistletoe Ball chairman, Frank Marion, announced the following duties for his Boys and Girls committee. Ralph Starkey, ticket taker at the door; John Minke, advertising poster distribution;

E. R. Bennett, Richard Funk and Forest Croman, decorations, and Charles Schieber and Herbert Seymour, cleanup. The 29th annual Mistletoe Dance will be held December 27 from 10 p. m. until 2 a. m. at the County coliseum.

Airman Cited Into Court

Martin E. Dow, 25, an airman at Lockbourne Air Force Base, was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Dow also is accused of taking a car owned by Reuben C. Weber, Ashville. According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Dow was involved in an accident after taking the car in Ashville at about 4 p. m. yesterday.

Dow was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his drivers license suspended for one year on the intoxicated driving count.

Dow told Hoover that he got into the Weber car by mistake, following a day of drinking at an Ashville bar. His own car was parked nearby. Hoover said Dow smashed the car into a fence on the Lloyd Baum farm near Ashville.

It was Dow's second intoxicated driving conviction since March, 1937.

O'Neill Names Pair To State Ag Board

27, Pg 1—O'Neill Names
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today appointed one new member and reappointed a present member of the State Board of Agriculture. Both appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

The new member is Merle Stacy of near Marietta, a brother of Lloyd Stacy of near Lowell who resigned Dec. 1 to become state director of Agriculture. Merle Stacy was appointed to a term ending Sept. 30, 1964. He is a Republican. The reappointment went to Willard Bitzer, Democrat, of Washington Court House. He originally was appointed to the board in 1952 by former Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

County Democrats File Expenditures

The Pickaway County Democratic Executive Committee filed its statement of receipts and expenditures today with the County Board of Elections.

The Democrats listed receipts of $1,487.74 and expenses of $1,001.98. Their statement, filed by Party Chairman, Robert H. Huffer, said the balance of the funds will be used to keep the Democrats active through meetings, correspondence and general political activity.

but the over-all outlook is for continued below-normal readings, the Weather Bureau said.

The midcontinent got a little relief today from the unseasonably cold and heavy snow. But there wasn't any immediate break in the prewinter cold wave in the East and South.

The warming trend, from the Continental Divide into the Midwest, followed more than a week of zero cold and snow. However, temperatures generally were below seasonal levels in most areas and snow was in prospect in Northern sections.

It was colder in much of the East and South and more snow piled on top of already snow-covered areas. Freezing weather prevailed in the Carolinas and across northern Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. More frosty air nipped northern Florida.

The cold showed little moderation across the Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio Valley, the central Gulf Coast states, and along the Eastern Seaboard. However, a little warmer weather was indicated.

It was freezing at Tallahassee, Fla., early today and near the freezing mark in Cross City, Fla.

The Bureau forecasts temperatures below the seasonal normal over the eastern half of the United States for the next 30 days, except for near normal in the Florida Peninsula.

"Above normal temperatures are expected to prevail west of the Continental Divide. In the intervening area of the Central Plains about normal averages are in prospect but with large variations about the normal.

"Precipitation is expected to equal or exceed normal east of the Appalachians along the Gulf Coast and over the eastern Great Lakes. In Central and Northern portions much of this will be in the form of snow.

"Equal or above normal amounts are also expected over the Pacific Northwest and in the Central and Northern Plains. In the remainder of the country subnormal precipitation is anticipated."

Santa Claus' Matrimonial Aid Revived

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Santa Claus' matrimonial bureau is back in business and the woman who started it all has been invited to place her order again.

Identifying herself only as "the lonely widow," she dropped a letter into the big red mailbox designed for youngsters' letters to Santa last year. In her letter, she asked for a husband for Christmas.

When her plea received wide publicity, about 200 other men and women put in similar requests. The city recreation director, Nick J. Barack, mimeographed a list of their names and addresses and sent a copy to each.

Two marriages resulted, but no further word was received from the original lonely widow. Barack — now jokingly called "St. Nick" — put up a special mailbox Monday, promised to compile another lonely hearts list this year, and urged the lonely widow to give it another try.

Scolded Boy, 6, Dies In Freezing Weather

MERRICK, N.Y. (AP) — The temperature was below freezing when 6-year-old Tommy Donahue ran away from home after a scolding from his father.

A widespread, two-day search for the boy ended Monday. Tommy's body was found along a road embankment. He had died of exposure.

fied solidarity of the alliance in support of the three powers principally responsible for Berlin."

The Western Big Three reportedly were drafting a reply to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 27 note. His note called for an end to the four-power occupation of Berlin, turning West Berlin into a Communist-surrounded, demilitarized free city within six months.

The reply, informants said, would reject the Soviet proposal outright and suggest the time had come for a fresh look at the situation in Germany and central Europe.

Among the key points in the draft was a reminder that Moscow has not responded to the Big Three proposal Sept. 30 to begin work at an expert level on German reunification, with a summit meeting the eventual goal. Moscow repeatedly has refused to discuss reunification, saying the Communist East German regime must arrange this with West Germany. West Germany and the Big Three refuse to deal with the satellite regime and say Germany can be unified only by free elections throughout the divided nation.

Children's Home Treated By Kiwanis

The residents of the Pickaway County Children's Home were last night entertained by the Circleville Kiwanis Club with dinner and gifts presented by Santa Claus.

A total of 31 children were on hand at the Mecca Restaurant. After their meal and singing of Christmas carols, led by Truman Eberly, the group were presented gifts.

Each child received one or more presents and candy was given by individual Kiwanians. Assorted cartoons capped the evening's entertainment.

The high school sextet shared the evening's program, singing four Christmas songs. Members of the group were Marilyn Hartman, Mariha Samuel, Diane Johnson, Sheila Bass, Diana Grant and Ellen Neff. Miss Judy Barnhill was their accompanist.

Bill Wirtel, associated with Ralston Purina, was the guest of Dr. Richard Samuel. It was announced that brother Kiwanian, Judge William Ammer, will be installed as 10th Division Lieutenant Governor on January 5.

Mistletoe Ball chairman, Frank Marion, announced the following duties for his Boys and Girls committee. Ralph Starkey, ticket taker at the door; John Minke, advertising poster distribution; E. R. Bennett, Richard Funk and Forest Croman, decorations, and Charles Schieber and Herbert Seymour, cleanup. The 29th annual Mistletoe Dance will be held December 27 from 10 p. m. until 2 a. m. at the County coliseum.

Agencies with Closed Doors Now Help Unwed Mothers

Editor's Note: Following is the second of a two-part series telling how society is helping the unwed mother and her child.

By ELEANOR KERSTETTER
Toledo Blade Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Fortunately for the unwed mother, there are local agencies staffed with competent social workers who are willing to help—agencies whose closed doors hold thousands of secrets.

Help and care at each agency follows the same pattern. The girls are offered homes while awaiting their babies, hospital facilities or access to cooperating hospitals for pre-natal care and delivery, and post-natal care and adoption care and services.

After preliminary interviews, a social worker is assigned to the unwed mother. And during her pregnancy, she receives weekly counseling on her problems.

She may wish to be sent to an out-of-town maternity home to have her baby, and that is arranged.

She may not want her parents to know of her predicament and, after investigation is made, the girl makes her own decision. Parents of a minor, however, are intimately involved in the planning.

Psychiatric treatment is offered those who need it.

For the most part, the maternity homes are not free, but no one is turned away.

Customarily a girl is charged with her ability to pay, and if one organization cannot accommodate her, it refers her to another one.

It's a far cry from the maternity home of earlier vintage. The first homes, which began to operate in the latter part of the last century, were places of refuge for the "fallen woman."

ated the maternity homes in those days set out to "reform" the girl. And while they worked for public sympathy and humane treatment of the unmarried mother, many imposed strict regulations on their residents.

Today, with increased understanding of the causes of illegitimacy, modern maternity homes are designed along the lines of real homes and apartment houses. The philosophy of operation is designed to aid the mother and her baby to return to society and lead normal, healthy lives.

Residents live in pleasantly decorated semi-private or private quarters. Their right to come and go is limited only to the extent necessary for the efficient operation of the agency.

Many homes also place girls with "foster families," where they may live as members of the family during their pregnancy and for a while after their babies are born.

Even the dignity of the unwed mother is protected from public sacrifice, for she enters the hospital with a "Mrs." attached to her maiden name.

Despite this progress, authorities admit they still have a long way to go. There is still an urgent need for more maternity homes and more qualified people to run them.

There is no way of determining what becomes of the unwed mother after she leaves a maternity home.

Most follow through with their high school and college studies, such as the girl who returned to a local agency to inform them she had graduated with highest honors from college.

Despite the numerous advancements, experts claim there exists a still greater urgency: Eliminating the widespread ignorance of the unwed mothers' problems and the agencies which help her.

Many girls never heard of such places before they needed help. They learned of them by chance. Social workers also point out that many clergymen and doctors are not thoroughly familiar with the work being done.

Although admission to a maternity home often occurs in the latter months of pregnancy, social workers stress the importance of a girl registering with a home as early as possible.

This permits better planning for casework and relieves the "girl in trouble" of her anxiety about where to turn.

Such actions also will help the growing number of specialists who are searching for ways to help these girls and to determine what lies behind their plight.

Doctor Granted Sentence Delay

CLEVELAND (AP)—Federal Judge Paul C. Weick granted an indefinite stay of sentence to Dr. Alexander V. Spaeth, who was scheduled to report today to start a one-year term for perjury in a bank robbery trial.

The judge granted the stay after receiving affidavits from two physicians at Doctors Hospital, where Dr. Spaeth is under treatment for a heart ailment. The physicians described his condition as serious and said it would be dangerous to move him.

Conviction of Dr. Spaeth, 57, which was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court last month, was based on testimony he gave in 1952 as an alibi witness for Joseph Sanzo, who was convicted in the $71,000 robbery of a bank at Warren, Ohio.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Is it possible that women can fall out of love with their husbands? If so, what have they been able to do about it?

We, my husband and I, have wonderful children who love us both equally. Because of their youth and innocence, they do not understand what has been going on.

On the heels of a recent so-called "reconciliation" we find that we no longer thrill to one another's touch; no longer do we care for each other's caresses. In short, there's no physical attraction.

Presently, the situation looks good on the surface; but the shock was too much for me, and I feel that I no longer love him. Are we required to live the rest of our lives not really caring for one another, staying only for the children; hating, more and more, the conjugal intimacy permitted only due to necessity?

C. J. DEAR C. J.: When an unhappily married pair write that they are staying together because of the children, the logical retort is: "Come out from behind the false whiskers."

When whiners stay together, almost always it is for personally selfish, clinging, face-saving, expedient reasons—that aren't really other-centered at all: in terms of putting others' happiness ahead of their own.

Such is the challenge confronting you. A new road to maturity beacons. But have you the vision and stamina to pursue it, profitably? Can you turn from the past, with its easy thrills of physical passion and self-gratification, and invest mind and spirit—and not merely body—in promoting kind-hearted "togetherness."

On the wife's part this might include: 1. Renouncing a sense of injury and resentment over past hurts. 2. Taking fresh interest in the house, to make it comfortable and attractive, in line with the husband's taste, perhaps. 3. Becoming beautifully gracious (as in courting days) in routine interchange with husband. 4. Finding God, as the source of grace, and developing habitual patterns of daily worship. 5. Growing outward into Life (after taking root in grace), by working modestly with social groups (clubs, etc.) that promote good causes.

When you get away from morbid preoccupation with self and personal feelings, by these techniques, the air is cleared for a revival of "love"—attraction to the partner.

Agencies with Closed Doors Now Help Unwed Mothers

Editor's Note: Following is the second of a two-part series telling how society is helping the unwed mother and her child.

By ELEANOR KERSTETTER
Toledo Blade Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Fortunately for the unwed mother, there are local agencies staffed with competent social workers who are willing to help—agencies whose closed doors hold thousands of secrets.

Help and care at each agency follows the same pattern. The girls are offered homes while awaiting their babies, hospital facilities or access to cooperating hospitals for pre-natal care and delivery, and post-natal care and adoption care and services.

After preliminary interviews, a social worker is assigned to the unwed mother. And during her pregnancy, she receives weekly counseling on her problems.

She may wish to be sent to an out-of-town maternity home to have her baby, and that is arranged.

She may not want her parents to know of her predicament and, after investigation is made, the girl makes her own decision. Parents of a minor, however, are intimately involved in the planning.

Psychiatric treatment is offered those who need it.

For the most part, the maternity homes are not free, but no one is turned away.

Customarily a girl is charged with her ability to pay, and if one organization cannot accommodate her, it refers her to another one.

It's a far cry from the maternity home of earlier vintage. The first homes, which began to operate in the latter part of the last century, were places of refuge for the "fallen woman."

The organizations which operated the maternity homes in those days set out to "reform" the girl. And while they worked for public sympathy and humane treatment of the unmarried mother, many imposed strict regulations on their residents.

Today, with increased understanding of the causes of illegitimacy, modern maternity homes are designed along the lines of real homes and apartment houses.

The philosophy of operation is designed to aid the mother and her baby to return to society and lead normal, healthy lives.

Residents live in pleasantly decorated semi-private or private quarters. Their right to come and go is limited only to the extent necessary for the efficient operation of the agency.

Many homes also place girls with "foster families," where they may live as members of the family during their pregnancy and for a while after their babies are born. Even the dignity of the unwed mother is protected from public sacrifice, for she enters the hospital with a "Mrs." attached to her maiden name.

Despite this progress, authorities admit they still have a long way to go. There is still an urgent need for more maternity homes and more qualified people to run them. There is no way of determining what becomes of the unwed mother after she leaves a maternity home.

Most follow through with their high school and college studies, such as the girl who returned to a local agency to inform them she had graduated with highest honors from college.

Despite the numerous advancements, experts claim there exists a still greater urgency: Eliminating the widespread ignorance of the unwed mothers' problems and the agencies which help her.

Many girls never heard of such places before they needed help. They learned of them by chance. Social workers also point out that many clergymen and doctors are not thoroughly familiar with the work being done.

Although admission to a maternity home often occurs in the latter months of pregnancy, social workers stress the importance of a girl registering with a home as early as possible.

This permits better planning for casework and relieves the "girl in trouble" of her anxiety about where to turn.

Such actions also will help the growing number of specialists who are searching for ways to help these girls and to determine what lies behind their plight.

Doctor Granted Sentence Delay

CLEVELAND (AP)—Federal Judge Paul C. Weick granted an indefinite stay of sentence to Dr. Alexander V. Spaeth, who was scheduled to report today to start a one-year term for perjury in a bank robbery trial.

The judge granted the stay after receiving affidavits from two physicians at Doctors Hospital, where Dr. Spaeth is under treatment for a heart ailment. The physicians described his condition as serious and said it would be dangerous to move him.

Conviction of Dr. Spaeth, 57, which was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court last month, was based on testimony he gave in 1952 as an alibi witness for Joseph Sanzo, who was convicted in the $71,000 robbery of a bank at Warren, Ohio.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Is it possible that women can fall out of love with their husbands? If so, what have they been able to do about it?

We, my husband and I, have wonderful children who love us both equally. Because of their youth and innocence, they do not understand what has been going on.

On the heels of a recent so-called "reconciliation" we find that we no longer thrill to one another's touch; no longer do we care for each other's caresses. In short, there's no physical attraction.

Presently, the situation looks good on the surface; but the shock was too much for me, and I feel that I no longer love him. Are we required to live the rest of our lives not really caring for one another, staying only for the children; hating, more and more, the conjugal intimacy permitted only due to necessity?

C. J. DEAR C. J.: When an unhappily married pair whine that they are staying together because of the children, the logical retort is: "Come out from behind the false whiskers."

When whiners stay together, almost always it is for personally selfish, clinging, face-saving, expedient reasons—that aren't really other-centered at all: in terms of putting others' happiness ahead of their own.

Such is the challenge confronting you. A new road to maturity beakons. But have you the vision and stamina to pursue it, profitably? Can you turn from the past, with its easy thrills of physical passion and self-gratification, and invest mind and spirit—and not merely body—in promoting kind-hearted "togetherness."

On the wife's part this might include: 1. Renouncing a sense of injury and resentment over past hurts. 2. Taking fresh interest in the house, to make it comfortable and attractive, in line with the husband's taste, perhaps. 3. Becoming beautifully gracious (as in courting days) in routine interchange with husband. 4. Finding God, as the source of grace, and developing habitual patterns of daily worship. 5. Growing outward into life (after taking root in grace), by working modestly with social groups (clubs, etc.) that promote good causes.

When you get away from morbid preoccupation with self and personal feelings, by these techniques, the air is cleared for a revival of "love"—attraction to the partner.

Let's Look at Foreign Aid

Appointment of nine prominent Americans, headed by William H. Draper, to give a "critical appraisal" to foreign aid programs has brought a spate of ideas from publications about the lines such as appraisal should follow.

The Wall Street Journal suggests a "realistic program" for economic help to other nations. Here are the elements offered:

Restrict assistance to nations that ask for it and show it will be reasonably used.

Make all assistance, except for an occasional special situation, loans instead of grants.

Run the program as a business-like banking operation (similar to the World Bank) — to eliminate overlapping operations and cultivate respect.

Make loans to private instead of government organizations wherever possible.

Limit the scope of projects according to a realistic assessment of requirements.

Liberalize trade policies; a healthy international commerce would obviate the need for much foreign aid.

All of these are commendable recommendations. Certainly they would tend to retrieve foreign aid from the chaotic never-never land where it resides. And there is good reason to contend that a hard-headed practical approach is needed to make the dollars Uncle Sam spends abroad produce more results.

Should Share Space Work

In both its military and peaceful aspects, the nation's over-all space effort will benefit by the compromise between the Army and National Aeronautics and Space Administration on the use of Army research facilities.

The Army will retain its Huntsville (Ala.) missile center — which had been sought by NASA — as well as its team of scientists headed by the German expert, Dr. Wernher von Braun.

NASA, the government's new civilian space agency, will take over the Army's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which will continue to be run by the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, Calif. NASA will use the larger Huntsville facilities "on a fully cooperative basis," but subject to Army priorities.

and NASA Army the to solution this would appear to favor the Army, but only for the immediate future. Eventually, it is predicted by some observers, the Army's share of the nation's space program will shrink to a point where NASA will be paramount even at the Huntsville center.

Kathy Faces Triple Challenge

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Life holds a triple challenge these days for Kathryn Grant, the young wife of singer Bing Crosby.

It has given her three roles to play—all at the same time. She is a busy mother, a busy actress, and she is busy studying physiology because she wants to get a degree as a registered nurse.

Although she is a bit reluctant to discuss it, she is quite serious in her ambition to learn nursing.

"A nurse learns discipline, and how to give service with her hands," she said. "This is a very satisfying feeling. I think it will be a big help to me in my domestic life."

The Texas-born beauty came here for public appearances preliminary to the release of her 17th film, which was shot in Spain.

Even wearing a black chemise dress and with her dark hair drawn back into "a severe chignon"—her words—Kathryn still looks startlingly young. She still feels her youthful look is something of a burden in her professional career.

"This is the real handicap—the round face," she said. "My husband says I can't get away yet with playing a well-kept broad. Actually, I'm a hag of 25."

Her visit here left Kathryn — she doesn't like to be called Kathy—homesick for Crosby and their 4-month-old son, Harry Lillis Crosby Jr.

"We call him 'Tex' or 'Little Mouse' or 'Little Man,'" she said. "Bing calls him 'Little Drunk' because of the expression he gets after finishing his bottle. He just sits there contemplating his navel."

Miss Grant's marriage to the celebrated crooner was regarded as a real Cinderella romance by to break the privacy of her present home life.

"So many people ask me what Bing is really like," she said.

"Actually Bing is exactly the kind of person most people think he is."

"He is a heavenly father. He sings incessantly around the house, and he loves to sing to the baby."

"Church means a great deal to him. It does to both of us."

In meeting the problems of her triple life—as wife, actress and student nurse—Kathryn says she likes to remember two sayings of her own mother:

"Do the best you can."

"You can do anything you have to."

Then she added: "Happiness is an elusive term, but I feel I am a woman fulfilled."

Demos Shouldn't Rest Easy

By George Sokolsky

Historically, the Democratic Party consisted of three general elements:

1. The Solid South;
2. The newer immigrants (at different times, Irish, German, Italian, Jewish);
3. The poorer farmers, particularly those who favored Populism in its demand for cheap money.

Franklin D. Roosevelt brought into the Democratic Party the most radical elements in the country, including labor union leaders and the socialist intellectuals.

The Democratic victory of 1936 cannot be defined as a product of any one of these elements but that it occurred is sufficient for politicians and Democratic National Committee Chairman, Paul Butler, is taking advantage of the situation to attempt to assert a leadership of his party which has not heretofore been the role of a National Committee Chairman.

The test of strength among Paul Butler and Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson will come when Congress opens. Butler's effectiveness can only be proved in Congress and if the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee has to attack the Democratic leadership in Congress, it is not altogether impossible that a third party may result.

The Northern Democrats have, of course, seized upon the name of Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, the devil whom they must fight, just as in an earlier period, the Modern Republicans used the name of Sen. Joe McCarthy as a rallying cry for the reorganization of the Republican Party. The mistake made by the Modern Republicans was that not only did they eliminate McCarthy but they split the Republican Party so that it cannot easily be put together again.

As any observer knows, Faubus does not lead the white population of the South. Such Democratic leaders as Sam Rayburn, Lyndon Johnson, Harry Byrd, Richard Russell and other committee chairmen in both the Senate and House are not dominated by Faubus. On the other hand, the assumption of the radical Northern Democrats that they can afford to read the South out of the Democratic Party is without statistical foundation.

When 1960 comes along, the question will be whether the Democratic Party can produce a candidate for President who will defeat the Republican candidate. Personalities will play a great role in this picture.

For instance, if the radical Democrats were to nominate Adlai Stevenson, let us say, against Nixon or Rockefeller, the likelihood is that Stevenson, the cynical world-traveler, would be defeated by the dynamism of such men.

On the other hand, suppose the inflation has become so wickedly spiral as to drive the economy into the madness which inflation produces, what effect will that have upon the election? The country will seek a sober, studious man to rescue it from its own greed and stupidity.

What gives Butler such blatant courage is the fact that the Republican Party seems to be dead. It has had a hard time since 1932, largely because the businessmen imposed their candidates upon the party. Such candidates as Landon and Wilkie could never have been elected.

Tom Dewey might have been. Robert A. Taft might have been. At any rate, when Eisenhower became President, he turned to political mavericks with the result that in his first term, he weakened his party; in his second term, he had not the time to correct his error.

However, even if the Republican Party were to disappear, the millions of men and women who do not hold moderate socialist views are bound sooner or later to coalesce into a political force. If there were only 100 such persons in this country an organization would appear. Actually all over the country committees and organizations are coming into existence to revitalize the Republican Party. Thus far, not one has been sufficiently effective to capture the imagination of the older Republicans, many of whom even stay away from the polls, abstaining from exercising their constitutional rights.

Butler's error in ignoring the Southern bulwark of his party is that he bases too much on the 1958 election which was for Senators, Representatives and Gov. Local issues prevailed.

For instance, no one can reach any conclusion about the Republican or Democratic Party in New York State. The same is true of the defeat of William Knowland in California.

Butler seems to be in a hurry to jump to conclusions. Meanwhile, he may be smashing his own party.

Home or Hospital?

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Is a person who is chronically ill better off at home or in a hospital?

This is the soul-searching problem so many younger persons experience these days as their parents become older and ill.

There are many things to take into consideration.

First, of course, should be your doctor's opinion. If he believes that the patients will be better off in a hospital, at least for a time, then that is the best possible place for him.

If the patient has no real need for hospital care, however, then he probably would be far better off at home.

Caring for one who faces a long illness at home has many advantages, not the least of which is financial.

For example, the cost of hospital care in a large city is now about $22 per day. Caring for the same patient at home would cost approximately $3.50 or a savings of $18.50 per day.

I want to emphasize, however, that the choice between home or hospital care shouldn't be based on money alone.

A decision by a family to take care of a chronically ill member at home is likely to have a very favorable effect on the patient.

If you plan to undertake home care of a member of your family, make sure that you, or the one who will be handling most of the care, is up to the job. It is not a simple task.

Home care is an all-inclusive job which generally means marketing, planning meals, bedside care, bathing the patient, care of the bedclothing and general care of the home.

Anyone undertaking such a job should be healthy and strong, must be stable and mature and have sound judgment. Moreover, she should be able to understand older persons and accept their idiosyncrasies.

She must have a hopeful outlook and must be able to communicate this optimism to the patient.

She must maintain a pleasant atmosphere not only in the sick room but throughout the home. Air fresheners, for example, should be used often.

The doctor's advice about the patient's diet should be followed but generally appetites of such patients are poor and I suggest smaller feedings, possibly six times a day, instead of the customary three heavier meals.

Question and Answer
D. H.: My 16-year-old son developed epilepsy following a recent accident.

Why did he not show some signs of this disease at birth or in childhood?

Answer: Epilepsy may first manifest itself at any age. A sudden strain such as a high fever or an accident may help induce the first attack.

There is a special type of epilepsy called "Jacksonian Epilepsy" which follows injury to an area of the brain. This type can sometimes be relieved by operation.

Oswego Already Gets Full Quota of Snow

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — This northern New York community measured a full winter's snowfall today, a week before the official beginning of that season.

Squalls off Lake Ontario added four inches over Saturday night to help produce the new total.

Demos Shouldn't Rest Easy

By George Sokolsky

Historically, the Democratic Party consisted of three general elements:

1. The Solid South;
2. The newer immigrants (at different times, Irish, German, Italian, Jewish);

3. The poorer farmers, particularly those who favored Populism in its demand for cheap money.

Franklin D. Roosevelt brought into the Democratic Party the most radical elements in the country, including labor union leaders and the socialistic intellectuals.

The Democratic victory of 1938 cannot be defined as a product of any one of these elements but that it occurred is sufficient for politicians and Democratic National Committee Chairman, Paul Butler, is taking advantage of the situation to attempt to assert a leadership of his party which has not heretofore been the role of a National Committee Chairman.

The test of strength among Paul Butler and Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson will come when Congress opens. Butler's effectiveness can only be proved in Congress and if the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee has to attack the Democratic leadership in Congress, it is not altogether impossible that a third party may result.

The Northern Democrats have, of course, seized upon the name of Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, the devil whom they must fight, just as in an earlier period, the Modern Republicans used the name of Sen. Joe McCarthy as a rallying cry for the reorganization of the Republican Party. The mistake made by the Modern Republicans was that not only did they eliminate McCarthy but they split the Republican Party so that it cannot easily be put together again.

As any observer knows, Faubus does not lead the white population of the South. Such Democratic leaders as Sam Rayburn, Lyndon Johnson, Harry Byrd, Richard Russell and other committee chairmen in both the Senate and House are not dominated by Faubus. On the other hand, the assumption of the radical Northern Democrats that they can afford to read the South out of the Democratic Party is without statistical foundation.

When 1960 comes along, the question will be whether the Democratic Party can produce a candidate for President who will defeat the Republican candidate. Personalities will play a great role in this picture.

For instance, if the radical Democrats were to nominate Adlai Stevenson, let us say, against Nixon or Rockefeller, the likelihood is that Stevenson, the cynical world-traveler, would be defeated by the dynamism of such men.

On the other hand, suppose the inflation has become so wickedly spiraling as to drive the economy into the madness which inflations produce, what effect will that have upon the election? The country will seek a sober, studious man to rescue it from its own greed and stupidity.

What gives Butler such blatant courage is the fact that the Republican Party seems to be dead. It has had a hard time since 1932, largely because the businessmen imposed their candidates upon the party. Such candidates as Landon and Willkie could never have been elected.

Tom Dewey might have been. Robert A. Taft might have been.

At any rate, when Eisenhower became President, he turned to political mavericks with the result that in his first term, he weakened his party; in his second term, he had not the time to correct his error.

However, even if the Republican Party were to disappear, the millions of men and women who do not hold moderate socialistic views are bound sooner or later to coalesce into a political force. If there were only 100 such persons in this country an organization would appear. Actually all over the country committees and organizations are coming into existence to revitalize the Republican Party. Thus far, not one has been sufficiently effective to capture the imagination of the older Republicans, many of whom even stay away from the polls, abstaining from exercising their constitutional rights.

Butler's error in ignoring the Southern bulwark of his party is that he bases too much on the 1958 election which was for Senators, Representatives and Gov. Local issues prevailed.

For instance, no one can reach any conclusion about the Republican or Democratic Party in New York State. The same is true of the defeat of William Knowland in California.

Butler seems to be in a hurry to jump to conclusions. Meanwhile, he may be smashing his own party.

Home or Hospital?

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Is a person who is chronically ill better off at home or in a hospital?

This is the soul-searching problem so many younger persons experience these days as their parents become older and ill.

There are many things to take into consideration.

First, of course, should be your doctor's opinion. If he believes that the patients will be better off in a hospital, at least for a time, then that is the best possible place for him.

If the patient has no real need for hospital care, however, then he probably would be far better off at home.

Caring for one who faces a long illness at home has many advantages, not the least of which is financial.

For example, the cost of hospital care in a large city is now about $22 per day. Caring for the same patient at home would cost approximately $3.50 or a savings of $18.50 per day.

I want to emphasize, however, that the choice between home or hospital care shouldn't be based on money alone.

A decision by a family to take care of a chronically ill member at home is likely to have a very favorable effect on the patient.

If you plan to undertake home care of a member of your family, make sure that you, or the one who will be handling most of the care, is up to the job. It is not a simple task.

Home care is an all-inclusive job which generally means marketing, planning meals, bedside care, bathing the patient, care of the bedclothing and general care of the home.

Anyone undertaking such a job should be healthy and strong, must be stable and mature and have sound judgment. Moreover, she should be able to understand older persons and accept their idiosyncrasies.

She must have a hopeful outlook and must be able to communicate this optimism to the patient.

She must maintain a pleasant atmosphere not only in the sick room but throughout the home. Air fresheners, for example, should be used often.

The doctor's advice about the patient's diet should be followed but generally appetites of such patients are poor and I suggest smaller feedings, possibly six times a day, instead of the customary three heavier meals.

Question and Answer

D. H.: My 16-year-old son developed epilepsy following a recent accident.

Why did he not show some signs of this disease at birth or in childhood?

Answer: Epilepsy may first manifest itself at any age. A sudden strain such as a high fever or an accident may help induce the first attack.

There is a special type of epilepsy called "Jacksonian Epilepsy" which follows injury to an area of the brain. This type can sometimes be relieved by operation.

Oswego Already Gets Full Quota of Snow

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — This northern New York community measured a full winter's snowfall today, a week before the official beginning of that season.

A U.S. Weather Bureau observer said 88 inches of snow had fallen here this month. The snowfall for all of last winter was 88 inches.

Squalls off Lake Ontario added four inches over Saturday night to help produce the new total.

the "Magi," who at the time of Jesus' birth and for centuries before were widely known as the learned priestly caste of Persia. Matthew's original language also connotes "the Far East," and comparisons with other documents of the era show this was the common phrase used for the area of Persia, since it then was under a Parthian dynasty.

The weight of tradition agrees. It may be that other nationalities sometimes mentioned refer to racial backgrounds, since in the past heyday of Persian empire, their regions had been included. Some still were.

Thus, the venturesome Magi, leaving behind Persia's barren expanse of Drangiana with its salt-water lakes and yapping jackals, traveled on through the wooded foothills of the Zagros.

The caravan climbed the steep trails into the mountains on Persia's western rim, and descended into the lowlands beyond. Wild boars, cheetahs and other carnivores infested the area, and bulbuls sang from the box trees.

The military escort was supplied as a routine to such royal entourage, even though the fractious King Phraates IV, dominated by an Italian concubine he called "the goddess Musa," had no taste for the mission.

The squadron of helmeted archers, with their fine-limbed horses, led the column down into the plain of Apollonias, on past the proudly independent city of Seleucia beside the Tigris, and as far as the Euphrates bridge.

For them to go farther might have appeared warlike. The Magi and their retinue of servants likewise continued from there alone. A long, hard road, of many months, lay ahead.

They tramped on. The saddles chafed their legs; the sun burned their skin and dust caked their eyes. The trip took six months to a year, other travel logs of the period indicate.

What kind of men were these who discerned a still small voice, and pursued it across a continent?

The annals of that time tell of their knowledge and insight. Philo, then an Alexandrian philosopher, said the Magi "behold the books of nature with more acute perception than usual." A contemporary Roman scholar, Apuleius, calls them "Divinely wise."

The Wisdom of Solomon says the Magi "seek for God being conversant with His works." The ancient Greek geographer, Herodotus, said that in all the world's ignorance was one shining exception—the truth-loving Magi.

Many other ancient scholars, Plutarch, Diogenes, Laertius, Pliny, all speak of the Magian acuity. They were official tutors of princes, Persian and Parthian alike.

But none of this explains the impetus that took them hundreds of miles, in broiling heat of day and chill of night, across the wide Syrian desert to Haleb or Tudmor, and on along the dusty highway to Damascus.

They camped at night in their black goat-hair tents, for it would not be fitting for regal personages to stop in foreign hostels, with their dancers, boxers, knife-throwers and comedians balancing underfed infants atop poles.

The brilliant star they had seen "in the east" or more specifically translated "at the rising" apparently did not guide them, for Judea lay to the west beside the Mediterranean—not to the east.

Part of their secret may have been in their "Zendavesta," the hoary, mystical record of which only one of 21 books survive. Or it may have been in the labyrinthine, dateless processes of the past linking their stored-up lore and monotheistic beliefs with Juda-

"I will take you to the Snuke," said the friendly mole.

SYNOPSIS: Esteban falls through a trap door into the bedroom of a mole. Esteban tells the mole about the professor's plan to kill all the fairies and asks for help. The mole tells him the Snuke will take him to Santa Land where he can get help.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

A TRIP UNDERGROUND

"Don't you agree," asked the mole, "that the Snuke can get you to Santa Land?"

"Pardon me," faltered Esteban, "but I never heard of the Snuke."

"Good gracious! Don't ever let him hear you didn't know who he was. He is very sensitive."

"Yes, sir," said Esteban. "But who is he?"

"He is my cousin. He lives in the sea instead of on land and where I dig through earth he digs ism, and its yearning for the king of kings.

Whatever the explanation, the Magi's final decision was precipitated by a star, and as Ignatius described it in the First Century, it "shone in heaven beyond all other stars . . . Its light was inexpressible . . . Men's ignorance was taken away."

It was in that instant, in a flare of intuition and conviction, that the Magi had known heaven had touched earth. So they traveled on and on, south along the great trade route from Damascus, along the eastern shore of Galilee, across the Jericho ford over the Jordan, and to Jerusalem.

They arrived there, not with any map or preordained itinerary or directional signals, but with the burning force with which they started—the force that outruns all transient knowledge—their faith.

brief case, put on his top hat and disappeared through the hole in the wall. Esteban stared at the hole in dismay. Squeezing himself as small as he could he would never be able to get through.

After a moment the mole reappeared. "Come on!" He beckoned impatiently.

"But I-I'm too big!" stammered Esteban.

The mole clicked his tongue in exasperation. "Tch, tch! I forgot about that. Well, never mind. I'll get help and we'll make the roads larger."

He disappeared and presently Esteban heard the familiar scraping sound. But this time it sounded as though a whole army was scraping.

Suddenly the whole side of the room did break open and the mole bounced in and said, "Bring the lamp and come along."

Esteban snatched the tiny lamp from the table and crawled into the large hole. Ahead of him he could see a thousand moles digging furiously to enlarge the tiny roads.

They worked so fast it was all Esteban could do to keep up with them. Lying on his stomach he held the lantern in one hand and pushed himself along with the other.

Presently the moles stopped their work. "Are we there?" asked Esteban eagerly.

"Gracious, no!" said his friend. "We are stopping to eat. Moles eat an enormous lot, you know. We have to in order to keep up our strength. Here, have a snack."

He opened his brief case and took

Put Legs in Limelight! Fashion's Short Skirts

LAVENDER-SCENTED hand lotion can also keep legs smooth. In cold weather massage it in to prevent chapping.

By JEANNE D'ARCY
Shorter skirts mean longer legs! At least, there's more leg on view than we've seen in many a fashion season.
How do you look?
We advise women whose legs aren't beauty assets to figure their skirt line accordingly. Short-short lengths are out of the question. It's far better to be a bit conservative in the fashion sense than it is to be right on the crest of the style wave if it's one that doesn't flatter your figure!

If legs are bowed or too heavy or too thin, wear skirts just a little longer than is currently the mode. On you, they'll look better and far more becoming.

If legs are shapely, then by all means show them off by wearing your skirts short. But—and it's a big BUT—be sure legs are smooth and well-groomed for their debut.

It's very important that legs be hair-free. Sheer nylons show off fuzz, so be sure to remove it. The secret of shaving legs smooth is to use plenty of lather, which serves several purposes. It softens hair and helps the razor do its job with ease. It also acts as a cleanser in case of an accidental nick.

If you do nick legs while shaving them, apply a new see-through plastic bandage to cover up the wound. It comes in flesh tones that blend with your skin and keep the nick from being obvious.

Always use a clean blade in the razor. Don't chance a rusty one. If you loosen the blade after using it and run hot water over it, you'll help prevent rust.
And, if you're married, don't use your husband's razor! This drives men mad! Have a razor all your own!

The flesh-colored adhesive-backed bandage also comes in handy to prevent irritation caused by a shoe rubbing against your heel. If you have this problem, just stick a bandage over the trouble spot and you won't be bothered by a blister or callous.

Once legs are fuzz-free, keep them smooth with lotion. A lavender-scented hand lotion can serve legs, too. It contains a special skin-softening ingredient and has mild antiseptic qualities as well. In cold weather, it will prevent both legs and hands from chapping.

Mrs. Warner Hostess for Calvary WSWs

Mrs. Ida Warner, E. Main St., was hostess to the Women's Society of World Service of the Calvary EUB Church last week. Mrs. Manley Carothers was co-hostess. There were 12 members present.
A report was given on the candle sale and the thank offering. Three Thanksgiving baskets were delivered at Thanksgiving time.

The society is in the process of securing a speaker for World Service Day on February 1.

Mrs. Talmer Wise was in charge of the program. She used for her topic "Christmas Festivities in the Middle East."

"O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung by the group. The scripture lesson was taken from Matthew 2:1-12. A prayer was given by Mrs. Warner.

Mrs. Wise was told of the great wealth in the Middle East and of the poverty suffered by the people in these countries.

Following a period of meditation, closing prayer was given by Mrs. Wise. The offering was then placed on the worship table.

Mrs. William Cline read an article entitled, "It is more Blessed to Give than to Receive." The group enjoyed gift-wrapping the toys brought to be given to needy children.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Scioto Ladies To Meet Thursday

The Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid will hold its Christmas party and regular meeting at noon Thursday in the basement of the Ashville EUB Church.

The meeting was postponed last week due to the weather.

Household Hints

If macaroons are too soft to crush (when you want to crumble them to use in such a dessert as Biscuit Tortone), toast them in a hot oven, then cool, and you'll be able to crumb them.

Shrimp, popular in many families, provide excellent protein, are rich in minerals and contain protective vitamins.

Equal parts of seasoned flour and g-rated Parmesan cheese make a fine coating for thin slices of veal that are to be pan-fried.

Want to glaze the top of a yeast loaf before baking? Beat an egg white slightly and brush it over the loaf.

Christmas Fete Enjoyed by Soloqua Club

A Christmas party was enjoyed by the Soloqua Garden Club when it met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Barch, Duval.

Twenty-five members and guests were seated at a table decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

Following the turkey dinner a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Harry Trump.

Mrs. Young was selected by the group as a nominee for the next regional director. Mrs. Chauncey Hedges was elected to represent the group on the safety council.

Mrs. Georgia Holt is to purchase a book for the library in honor of the club deceased members.

The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Holt entitled "If Someone Gave Me a Garden for Christmas." The meeting closed with an exchange of gifts.

Guests present were: Mrs. Wallace Parsons, Mrs. Clyde Hoover, Mrs. Wayne E. Brown and daughter, Wendy and Mrs. E. L. Runkle.

There will be no January meeting, the February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hedges.

Girl Scouts Visit Home

Girl Scout Troop No. 796 traveled to Zenia, O. recently to visit the Children's Home there. While there they ate lunch in the dining hall.

Girl Scouts attending were: Louise Adkins, Sandy Anderson, Melanie Brehmer, Gloria Curl, Judy Fausnaugh, Ellen Jenkins, Joyce Keaton, Elaine Manbeavers, Carol Rice, Cynthia Thompson, Sandra Weidinger and Susie West.

Mrs. R. C. Anderson, leader and Mrs. E. Keaton, assistant leader, accompanied the girls.

Daring Jeweler Shot During Robbery

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Holdup men finally got a veteran jeweler who once declared "if anyone wants to rob me they'll have to kill me."

The body of Ira C. Faircloth, 71, was found sprawled in his store Sunday. He had been shot twice.

The store had been looted of an undetermined amount of jewelry and cash.

Faircloth had been a frequent target of holdup men. One tried to rob him at knife point but the jeweler shot and captured him.

Absent Minded

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A clerk at the Civic Center was reported missing by his supervisor after a four-day absence from his job and apartment. It turned out he wasn't missing; he'd just hopped a Naval Reserve flight to Alaska and back and forgot to mention it.

Ohio Solon Calls Africa Pivotal Area

CLEVELAND (AP)—Africa is a pivotal area in the cold war with Russia, says Rep. Wayne L. Hays. That was a major point in the 48-year-old Democratic congressman's talk Monday night before the Cleveland Council on World Affairs.

"We don't have a coherent policy toward Africa. It's an exercise in futility to try to send highly technical weapons to nations like Ethiopia," said the speaker.

Russia is interested in the Middle East mainly as a route to Africa, he asserted, declaring that "their representatives get down and work with the people."

Hays said America must do the same. "We are going to have to train people to get down to the grass roots for technical assistance. It's going to take sacrifice and money and work," he said.

"Technical assistance, not weapons, is the key to success in foreign aid," said Hays.

Hays, who lives in Flushing, Ohio, represents the 18th District and is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

GOING TO HER SWEDIE-PIE—Just before leaving New York International airport for Sweden, Mrs. Julia Wohlfert, 68-year-old widow from Evanston, Ill., points to Linköping, where she will be married in January to Edward Desteson, also 68. He was her sweetheart 47 years ago, but she left for a nursing career in the United States shortly after they became engaged. She subsequently married the late Hugh C. Wohlfert in this country. Desteson never married.

Mrs. Warner Hostess for Calvary WSWs

Mrs. Ida Warner, E. Main St., was hostess to the Women's Society of World Service of the Calvary EUB Church last week. Mrs. Manley Carothers was co-hostess. There were 12 members present.

A report was given on the candle sale and the thank offering. Three Thanksgiving baskets were delivered at Thanksgiving time.

The society is in the process of securing a speaker for World Service Day on February 1.

Mrs. Talmer Wise was in charge of the program. She used for her topic "Christmas Festivities in the Middle East."

"O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung by the group. The scripture lesson was taken from Matthew 2:1-12. A prayer was given by Mrs. Warner.

Mrs. Wise was told of the great wealth in the Middle East and also of the poverty suffered by the people in these countries.

Following a period of meditation, closing prayer was given by Mrs. Wise. The offering was then placed on the worship table.

Mrs. William Cline read an article entitled, "It is more Blessed to Give than to Receive." The group enjoyed gift-wrapping the toys brought to be given to needy children.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Scioto Ladies To Meet Thursday

The Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid will hold its Christmas party and regular meeting at noon Thursday in the basement of the Ashville EUB Church.

The meeting was postponed last week due to the weather.

Household Hints

If macaroons are too soft to crush (when you want to crumble them to use in such a dessert as Biscuit Tortone), toast them in a hot oven, then cool, and you'll be able to crumb them.

Shrimp, popular in many families, provide excellent protein, are rich in minerals and contain protective vitamins.

Equal parts of seasoned flour and grated Parmesan cheese make a fine coating for thin slices of veal that are to be pan-fried.

Want to glaze the top of a yeast loaf before baking? Beat an egg white slightly and brush it over the loaf.

Season sauerkraut with minced onion, a bay leaf and brown sugar; add frankfurters and small boiled new potatoes. Simmer in a large skillet until savory hot.

Cage Teams Prep For 15 Contests

A total of 15 games are on tap this week among the 10 Pickaway County teams and six area quintets. Action starts tonight with two contests.

Pickaway, 1-4, meets New Holland, 1-7, on the Bulldog court. The Pirates have started to move, winning their first game Friday, 78-51, against Jackson. New Holland is rebuilding this year and after its first and only victory last Tuesday, came back

McClain Comes Here Friday

Tigers Will Seek Second Straight

Circleville's cage Tigers go after their second win in a row and third straight in South Central Ohio League play when Greenfield comes here for a test Friday.

Coach Dick Snuffer's forces will attempt to stay on the victory road which saw them post a convincing 50-37 decision over Washington C. H. here Friday night.

The Tigers' other win was a 50-42 job over Franklin Heights. The losses were to Athens, 52-40, and Chillicothe, 51-28.

Circleville found another scoring punch against WCH as forward Bob Shadley came through with 13 points to lead the locals. Circleville's other scoring threat is Captain Don Rowland who specializes on long one-handers.

Center Larry Hannahs also has been hitting well from underneath as has Asa Elsea from around the key. Circleville's alternating forwards, Joe Adkins and Cal Ellis, have scoring ability, with Adkins favoring jump shots and hooks and Ellis drive-ins.

Circleville and Hillsboro currently are leading the South Central Ohio League, each with 2-0 records. Hillsboro is slated for a meeting at Washington C. H. tonight.

Darby Leads County in Statistics

The Darby Trojans maintained first place in Pickaway County team statistics with a clean slate of six victories and a leading offensive average of 69.3 points per game.

Darby increased its offensive average this past week by half a point. Defensively, the Trojans rank third with a 52.3 average.

The top defensive team is Salt Creek with a 46.3 average. Offensively the Warriors rank eighth. Second offensively is Scioto with a 62.2 average, gaining 1.2 points from last week. Defensively, the Buffaloes placed fifth with a 55.2 average.

All county teams but Jackson have a win under their belt. The Wildcats are winless in seven times out, placing ninth offensively with a 51.1 average. Defensively, Jackson also placed ninth with a 64.6 average.

Six of the county's 10 teams are 500 or over on the season. The teams have won 30 games against 33 losses.

Myers of Williamsport Holds Lead in County Cage Scoring

Williamsport's David Myers this past week lengthened his Pickaway County scoring lead by 1.6 of a point over second ranked Dickie Melvin of Scioto.

Myers tallied 27 points against rugged Darby on the miniature Trojan gymnasium. He increased his point average one tenth of a point for a 26.4 average.

Scioto's gunning guard retained second slot in the scoring column with a 24.8 average, dropping two tenths of a point from last week.

Ashville's Bobby Hoover, held a slim third place margin over Jackson's Charles Galloway, by one tenth of a point. Hoover held a 23.2 average to Galloway's 23.1 average.

HOOPER GARNERED most of his points last week on stellar rebounding and tip-ins. Galloway is average to Galloway's 23.1 average more of a corner jump shot artist and his scoring is remarkable due to his team's 0.7 record.

Salt Creek's Gary Valentine tied Darby's Tommy Walters in fifth position, both holding 21.5 point averages. Valentine gained half a point last week, while Walters' average remained steady.

Atlanta's Ronnie Morris, dropping steadily in average, held down seventh slot with a 19 point average. He hit his season's low against Walnut, when held to seven points by a defensive minded Tiger aggregation.

Pickaway's Harry Lee, a surprise member of the elite top ten, holds down eighth place with a fine 18.8 average. The ace Pirate scorer is a transfer student from Walnut and hasn't seen too much county basketball action in previous years.

Ninth position is again held by Jackson's Jerry Brigner. He maintained a 15.3 average, gaining one tenth of a point from last week.

Tenth position went to a newcomer to the top ten in the form of Monroe guard Larry Bigam, with a 14.8 average. Bigam, starting out slowly in scoring, has finally hit his stride in recent games and is aiding the Indians to one of their finest seasons in years.

Moore Takes Look At His Own Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore saw a television show Monday night. He thought it had a lousy beginning but a sock finish.

The light heavyweight champion had just seen a video tape screening of his spectacular 11th round knockout of rugged Yvon Durelle at Montreal last Wednesday night.

"I didn't care for the first half of the fight," Archie said. "I liked the second very much. As a matter of fact that part was great."

During the first half, Archie leaned forward in his chair. From the sixth round on he leaned back, chuckling most of the time.

Skip Young Of Amanda Leads Area

Though dropping three points off his point scoring average, Skip Young of Amanda maintained his County area scoring leadership with a 17 point average.

Young and his Amanda running mates ran into severe opposition this past week as New Lexington St. Aloysius and Pleasantville "laid the wood" to the Aces.

New Holland's Nelson Bochar retained second place with a 16.1 average, 1.6 of a point off his preceding week's average.

Stoutsville's Randall Crites moved past five men in the scoring race to take over third place with a 15.8 average. Last week he held down eighth position.

CENTRALIA'S Sonny Harrison is again in fourth place with a 14.3 average, he gained almost a point over last week. Fifth slot went to Laurelville's Max Young, who replaced brother Mickey who held down this position last week.

Freshman Max held this place by virtue of a 14.1 average, an increase of 1.3 of a point. Kingston's Bob Williams retained sixth ranking with a 13.4 average, gaining 0.2 of a point.

Teammate Gene Sims tumbled from third to seventh place with a 13.3 average, a loss of one point from last week. Eighth place was held by a newcomer, to the column, Tommy Wiggins. Laurelville's back court scoring threat.

Wiggins and ninth ranked pivot man, Mickey Young, 12.9, are two of the men most responsible for the Wildcats three straight victories and different attitude on life.

Centralia's Elwood King, a little center that brings the big boys down to his size with his giant rebounding ability, was in tenth place with a 12.6 average.

Yankee Pitching Rated Best in AL

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees pitching staff, headed by Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, again topped the American League in performance the past season.

Official league statistics released today show the Yankee staff posted a 3.22 earned run average far ahead of second place Baltimore's 3.40. Ford, the chunky southpaw, led all individuals with a 2.01 mark.

Detroit was third with a 3.59 average, followed by Chicago's 3.61, Cleveland's 3.73; Boston's 3.92, Kansas City's 4.15 and Washington's 4.53.

Indians Pace Area Teams

The Stoutsville Indians hold first place this week in the Pickaway County area cage team statistics after sharing the throne with Kingston last week.

Stoutsville has the best slate of the six area teams with four wins against a single loss. Offensively, the Indians rank third with an average of 59.8 points per game, but lead defensively with a 49.8 average.

The No. 1 offensive squad is Centralia with 60.4 points per game. The Bulldogs placed fourth defensively with a 60.7 average.

Kingston, which reigned over the area teams for four weeks, dropped into a second place tie with Centralia, each with identical 4-3 records. Offensively, Kingston ranked second and defensively placed first with a 57.1 average.

Only Amanda is winless of the area teams, with four straight losses. The Aces placed last offensively and defensively. New Holland is close behind with a 1-7 slate.

Cage Teams Prep For 15 Contests

A total of 15 games are on tap this week among the 10 Pickaway County teams and six area quintets. Action starts tonight with two contests.

Pickaway, 1-4, meets New Holland, 1-7, on the Bulldog court. The Pirates have started to move, winning their first game Friday, 78-51, against Jackson. New Holland is rebuilding this year and after its first and only victory last Tuesday, came back Friday to be blasted, 83-20, by Madison South.

The second game to be played to night pits winless Amanda, 0-4, against arch rival Stoutsville, 4-1. This is a Fairfield County league game, to be held on the Indian court.

Over the years these two schools have carried a heated rivalry in all sports. The Indians will pit experience against the Aces yearling squad.

McClain Comes Here Friday

Tigers Will Seek Second Straight

Circleville's cage Tigers go after their second win in a row and third straight in South Central Ohio League play when Greenfield comes here for a test Friday.

Coach Dick Snuffer's forces will attempt to stay on the victory road which saw them post a convincing 50-37 decision over Washington C. H. here Friday night.

The Tigers' other win was a 50-42 job over Franklin Heights. The losses were to Athens, 52-40, and Chillicothe, 51-28.

Circleville found another scoring punch against WCH as forward Bob Shadley came through with 13 points to lead the locals. Circleville's other scoring threat is Captain Don Rowland who specializes on long one-handers.

Center Larry Hannahs also has been hitting well from underneath as has Asa Elsea from around the key. Circleville's alternating forwards, Joe Adkins and Cal Ellis, have scoring ability, with Adkins favoring jump shots and hooks and Ellis drive-ins.

Circleville and Hillsboro currently are leading the South Central Ohio League, each with 2-0 records. Hillsboro is slated for a meeting at Washington C. H. tonight.

Darby Leads County in Statistics

The Darby Trojans maintained first place in Pickaway County team statistics with a clean slate of six victories and a leading offensive average of 69.3 points per game.

Darby increased its offensive average this past week by half a point. Defensively, the Trojans rank third with a 52.3 average.

The top defensive team is Saltcreek with a 46.3 average. Offensively the Warriors rank eighth. Second offensively is Scioto with a 62.2 average, gaining 1.2 points from last week. Defensively, the Buffaloes placed fifth with a 55.2 average.

All county teams but Jackson have a win under their belt. The Wildcats are winless in seven times out, placing ninth offensively with a 51.1 average. Defensively, Jackson also placed ninth with a 64.6 average.

Six of the county's 10 teams are 500 or over on the season. The teams have won 30 games against 33 losses.

Orioles Now List 13 Infielders

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles roster listed 13 infielders today with the acquisition of veteran Billy Klaus from the Boston Red Sox.

Klaus, the fourth infielder obtained by the Orioles since the 1958 season ended, came to Baltimore in an even-up swap for Bird outfielder Jim Busby, Boston General Manager Joe Cronin and the Oriole front office, who made a joint announcement of the swap, said no cash was involved.

Klaus, who turned 30 seven days ago, batted .159 while appearing in 61 games, mostly as a pinch-hitter, for the Red Sox last season.

Busby, the Orioles' regular centerfielder much of the season, batted .237 in 112 games. He is 32.

Football rivalry between Pitt and Syracuse began in 1916.

Myers of Williamsport Holds Lead in County Cage Scoring

Williamsport's David Myers this past week lengthened his Pickaway County scoring lead by 1.6 of a point over second ranked Dickie Melvin of Scioto.

Myers tallied 27 points against rugged Darby in the miniature Trojan gymnasium. He increased his point average one tenth of a point for a 26.4 average.

Scioto's gunning guard retained second slot in the scoring column with a 24.8 average, dropping two tenths of a point from last week.

Ashville's Bobby Hoover, held a slim third place margin over Jackson's Charles Galloway, by one tenth of a point. Hoover held a 23.2 average to Galloway's 23.1 average.

HOOPER GARNERED most of his points last week on stellar rebounding and tip-ins. Galloway is average to Galloway's 23.1 average more of a corner jump shot artist and his scoring is remarkable due to his team's 0.7 record.

Saltcreek's Gary Valentine tied Darby's Tommy Walters in fifth

Moore Takes Look At His Own Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore saw a television show Monday night. He thought it had a lousy beginning but a sock finish.

The light heavyweight champion had just seen a video tape screening of his spectacular 11th round knockout of rugged Yvon Durelle at Montreal last Wednesday night.

"I didn't care for the first half of the fight," Archie said. "I liked the second very much. As a matter of fact that part was great."

During the first half, Archie leaned forward in his chair. From the sixth round on he leaned back, chuckling most of the time.

Skip Young Of Amanda Leads Area

Though dropping three points off his point scoring average, Skip Young of Amanda maintained his County area scoring leadership with a 17 point average.

Young and his Amanda running mates ran into severe opposition this past week as New Lexington St. Aloysius and Pleasantville "laid the wood" to the Aces.

New Holland's Nelson Bochard retained second place with a 16.1 average, 1.6 of a point off his preceding week's average.

Stoutsville's Randall Crites moved past five men in the scoring race to take over third place with a 15.8 average. Last week he held down eighth position.

CENTRALIA'S Sonny Harrison is again in fourth place with a 14.3 average, he gained almost a point over last week. Fifth slot went to Laurelville's Max Young, who replaced brother Mickey who held down this position last week.

Freshman Max held this place by virtue of a 14.1 average, an increase of 1.3 of a point. Kingston's Bob Williams retained sixth ranking with a 13.4 average, gaining 0.2 of a point.

Teammate Gene Sims tumbled from third to seventh place with a 13.3 average, a loss of one point from last week. Eighth place was held by a newcomer. To the column, Tommy Wiggins, Laurelville's back court scoring threat.

Wiggins and ninth ranked pivot man, Mickey Young, 12.9, are two of the men most responsible for the Wildcats three straight victories and different attitude on life.

Centralia's Elwood King, a little center that brings the big boys down to his size with his giant rebounding ability, was in tenth place with a 12.6 average.

addition of Phil Rollins, acquired from Philadelphia in a trade.

The swap, announced Monday, sent Vern Hatten to Philadelphia for Rollins and the rights to Phil Wheeler.

Wheeler, former University of Cincinnati star, has an insurance business here and has never played pro basketball.

Rollins will join the Royals in New York today.

Yankee Pitching Rated Best in AL

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees pitching staff, headed by Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, again topped the American League in performance the past season.

Official league statistics released today show the Yankee staff posted a 3.22 earned run average far ahead of second place Baltimore's 3.40. Ford, the chunky southpaw, led all individuals with a 2.01 mark.

Detroit was third with a 3.59 average, followed by Chicago's 3.61, Cleveland's 3.73; Boston's 3.92, Kansas City's 4.15 and Washington's 4.53.

Indians Pace Area Teams

The Stoutsville Indians hold first place this week in the Pickaway County area cage team statistics after sharing the throne with Kingston last week.

Stoutsville has the best slate of the six area teams with four wins against a single loss. Offensively, the Indians rank third with an average of 59.8 points per game, but lead defensively with a 49.8 average.

The No. 1 offensive squad is Centralia with 60.4 points per game. The Bulldogs placed fourth defensively with a 60.7 average.

Kingston, which reigned over the area teams for four weeks, dropped into a second place tie with Centralia, each with identical 4-3 records. Offensively, Kingston ranked second and defensively placed first with a 57.1 average.

Only Amanda is winless of the area teams, with four straight losses. The Aces placed last offensively and defensively. New Holland is close behind with a 1-7 slate.

EXPRESSING CHRISTMAS

SHIPPING CHRISTMAS GIFTS
"HOW TO PACK HOLIDAY SHIPMENTS"

CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCE
IF THE MAJOR HOLIDAYS THAT CHRISTMAS HAS IN OTHER COUNTRIES, THE WORD YULE IS THE ONLY ONE THAT WE HAVE ADOPTED. WE NEVER USE THE GERMAN WERKSTÄTTE YULE, WE EMPLOY IN A PORTAL SENSE AND IN COMBINATION WITH OTHER WORDS, WE LIGHT A YULE CANDLE, AND WE WISH A "HAPPY YULETIDE."

NOTE: SHOW VALUE IF OVER 50 DOLLARS. MAKE SURE YOUR PACKAGE IS TAPED OR TIED SECURELY.

GLASS—THIS SIDE UP WITH CARE. FRAGILE—HANDLE WITH CARE. PERISHABLE—DELIVER! NO DELAY!

USE SPECIAL LABELS IF NEEDED. AVAILABLE FREE FROM EXPRESS MAN. DO NOT POST ON LATE SHIPMENTS.

BEATING THE WRAP—Railway Express offers these tips on the best way to be a good Santa Claus, at least for delivery.

Saltcreek Valley

The Saltcreek "Town and Country" Club held their Christmas Party at the Max Luckhart home Wednesday evening with Mrs. Wilma Fraunfelder assisting hostess. Gift exchange and refreshments were served to twelve members and two guests.

The Tarlton Lutheran Aid Society met Thursday evening at the church Christmas party exchange of gifts. Ice cream and cake were served and "Santa" treated every one present.

The following were Sunday evening supper guests at the Mowery Luckhart home, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones, Mrs. Louise Matthews and Cindy, the Max Luckhart family, Mr. and Mrs. David Luckhart and Tania, Mr. Herb Vincent and Mr. Carl Krider.

Mrs. Francis Fraunfelder is now employed at the new Kroger Supermarket in Circleville and Carl Strous began work Monday morning at the DuPont plant near Circleville.

The Tri-County Council met with the Luckharts Tuesday evening after the program. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Dora and Eileen Reichelderfer were shopping in Circleville last Wednesday and Mrs. Donna Beougher and Mrs. Wanda Luckhart and mother, Mrs. Clarence Maxson attended an all-day meeting of the Home Demonstration Council and Bazaar at the Lutheran Parish House, Circleville.

Soviets Seeking Belgian Explorers

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet flier searched across frozen antarctic wastes today for four Belgian explorers who abandoned their crashed plane and set out on foot.

The flier reported by radio early today that he had not found the men, who had set out Thursday for a supply depot 80 miles from the crash site.

Soviet pilot Viktor Perov found the wreckage of the Belgians' plane Sunday and landed his ski-equipped Li2, Soviet version of the DC3, to look for survivors. He then took off over the crevasse-dotted site and patrolled the area.

The Belgians' plane had been missing since Dec. 6. They are members of the Belgian antarctic expedition.

Fatal Shooting Unravels Cache Of Moonshine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A shotgun blast that killed a man on an East Side street has apparently blown a bootleg whisky operation wide open.

The moonshine turned up as detectives investigated the fatal shooting of 29-year-old Henry Hutchens Sunday. They arrested another Columbus man, Hutchens' 25-year-old brother-in-law, Asa Cole. In his rooming house, they found five bottles of bootleg whisky.

Arresting Cole's father, Jeff, 45, detectives said they uncovered at least 90 more bottles. He admitted buying the corn liquor "somewhere south of Washington Court House," they added.

The younger Cole said he shot Hutchens after an argument over Cole's treatment of his sister, Hutchens' wife, police reported.

France, Britain Spar over Trade

PARIS (AP)—France appeared today to be backed into a tight corner in her stubborn fight against the British plan to turn Western Europe into a free trade area.

France wants to keep British competition out of the Common Market, which goes into operation Jan. 1 with France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg as members.

Britain threatened a trade war Monday if the Common Market is not expanded to include the 11 other West European nations of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation.

The possibility of a trade war apparently cost France the full support of her Common Market partners.

After nearly 14 hours of negotiations, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville admitted in substance, "France is isolated."

Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, beamed to reporters. "We are 100 per cent satisfied," he said. "We've got just what we wanted."

The Common Market institutes its first 10 per cent tariff cutback Jan. 1. The six will also increase import quotas among themselves by an over-all figure of 20 per cent and quotas on each individual item will be at least 3 per cent of the national production of the item during 1958.

Earlier this month, the six agreed to extend the tariff cutback to most of their OEEC partners and the 20 per cent over-all quota figure to the other 11 European nations. The 3 per cent stipulation was not contained in the Common Market offer.

Britain offered Monday to match the Common Market offer and threw in the 3 per cent rule for good measure.

The negotiators agreed to study possible compromises and meet again Jan. 15 to discuss a free trade area. Informants said that meanwhile, as a stopgap peace measure, at least some of the concessions offered by the Common Market members would take effect Jan. 1.

The Common Market, formally known as the European Economic Community, is designed to achieve a higher standard of living for the 170 million persons in the six nations by removing all internal trade barriers while keeping a uniform barrier against other nations. The target for achievement of this is 12 to 15 years.

Led by Britain and the Scandinavian countries, other West European nations fear their trade with the six nations would be lost and West Europe would be split in two economically. They want a free trade area of all 17 OEEC nations to remove internal barriers while keeping separate national barriers against trade from outside West Europe.

The French fear that letting the British, and indirectly the rest of the British Commonwealth, into their markets would hurt their own high-rice industries. Therefore, Paris prefers the smaller six-nation group.

Monroe County Shortage Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor James A. Rhoades said today an examiner is investigating an apparent shortage in the office of Monroe County Treasurer Fred H. Hilliard.

Rhoades said he acted on a report by examiner Floyd Aultman. The examiner said he learned that an apparent shortage possibly in excess of $10,000, existed when he began a periodic audit of the treasurer's books in courthouse offices at Woodsfield.

Reports to Rhoades said the treasurer had resigned. The state auditor said details would not be available until his examination had progressed further.

Tribunal Raps Decision by Liquor Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It's unreasonable to require an applicant for a beer and wine permit to own or operate a restaurant at the time for application, say three appellate court judges.

The three, sitting here on assignment for the 10th District Court of Appeals, upheld Common Pleas Court in striking down the State Liquor Control Board rule Monday.

The decision was for Eleanor Schott of Youngstown, doing business as the Duke's Restaurant. She was employed there and working out details to buy the restaurant when she applied for permits to sell 3.2 beer by glass and high-power beer and wine.

Asserting that there is no statutory requirement that the applicant must be the owner and operator of a restaurant at the time of application, the court said it "was not the legislative intent to limit the right to file applications only to the actual owners or operators . . . at the time of filing."

The court noted, however, that a permit must be issued to the owner or operator. Action of the State Liquor Control Board and State Liquor Department in rejecting applications because the applicant is not owner or operator of a restaurant at the time is unreasonable, the court held.

Dayton Slayer Ruled By Experts as Insane

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ralph Clayton Woodgeard, 39, awaiting grand jury action on a first-degree murder charge in the death of his brother, was insane at the time of the slaying, psychiatrists at Lima State Hospital report. The brother, Orville, 38, was shot five times and had his throat slashed Oct. 1. The psychiatrists' report said Ralph was suffering from alcoholic hallucinations at the time. Police said Ralph asked Orville for money and became mad when he received only $2. The brothers lived in Dayton.

Athens Port Paving Gets State's Eye

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A snow storm has apparently convinced state officials that the airport runway here needs paving.

Athens would become the seat of Ohio's government in case of enemy attack. But during a civil defense evacuation exercise earlier this month, Gov. C. William O'Neill was unable to fly here because snow covered Ohio University Airport. He had to drive.

Monday, President John C. Baker of Ohio University announced the State Emergency Control Board has authorized $195,000 to pave 3,500 feet of the airport's runway. Contracts will probably be awarded this spring, he said, and the project completed by late summer.

In Columbus, the state director of finance, John A. Skipton, said federal civil defense funds may become available to partially repay the state for the cost. The airport will be used by planes of the State Highway Department, Highway Patrol, Forestry Division and Ohio Air National Guard.
